

Hello Dan,

Your cause is a noble one and truly just. As a big Michael Campbell fan, this issue is constantly front and centre in my mind. It is in this regard I do not want to simply pay lip service to the conditions you raise. I am but one man and, should I prove successful, cannot promise that I would have the power alone to enact the legislation necessary to effect the changes required. What I can promise is that, should I win, I will, as my first course of action, track down everyone who has committed to this and hold them to their commitment in joining me to get the legislation through.

Sincerely,

Trevor Hamilton
